

JUDGE DEALS A BLOW AT GASOLINE ORDINANCE

Kimball Allows Storage of the Liquid in Autos.

GETTING RICH ON FINES

Howls Raised by English Motorists.
News and Gossip of the Horseless World.

In a decision rendered in a test case yesterday Judge Kimball endeavored himself to every automobilist in the city and also dealt a deadly blow to the new gasoline ordinance.

General Manager F. DeB. Weston, of the Automobile Storage and Repair Company, at 1319 L Street northwest, had been summoned to answer for violating the ordinance by storing gasoline in automobiles in the new garage of the company, which has been constructed especially for the purpose.

The ordinance declares that gasoline must not be stored, even in small quantities, in such buildings. Every owner of a gasoline or a steam machine in the city must store certain quantities of gasoline in such structures to operate machines.

When the case came up the judge promptly allowed the charge to be quashed, and hereafter the storage is to continue, the gasoline, of course, not being taken into the structures in quantities any larger than is necessary. Naturally the victory brought joy to many an automobilist's heart, and Mr. Weston was congratulated on his stand in the matter.

Constables Wax Rich.

The American motorist has both wailed and cursed over the pernicious activity of the country constable, his stop-watch and his weird judgment of speed, and the problem of fines, arrests and delays has become a serious one in automobile touring. But it would seem that what the American suffers in this respect is considerably short of the trouble piled up by his fellow sportsmen in England, where the question of speed violations has provoked the following protest:

"Motor catching has been going on merrily enough for the last two years, but probably few members of the general public are aware of the enormous extent to which the sport is practiced by the rural police. Week by week the officers of the local courts are being filled to a tune which has become positively startling, and which threatens ere long to make the levying of county tax rates a superfluity."

This outcry is justified by the figures, which show that more than $3,000,000 was collected in fines from English automobile motorists in the past year, and the chief constable of Huntingdonshire stated with pride in his last annual report that more than $2,000,000 had been extracted in fines from passing automobilists. These penalties were inflicted for the most part for technical infractions of a speed limit of twelve miles an hour, and they were by no means confined to towns or populous roads.

Ford Cars Here.

The first of the Ford cars to reach the city were operated about the streets yesterday by A. L. Kull, of the Willard Automobile Station, and F. S. Berens. The latter has three cars, counting his Ford. Mr. Kull has too many cars to count, and has added a Ford to them, which he is now demonstrating. The machine is of the bright cherry finish, of high power, but light weight, and runs as smoothly as the best of the electrics. Though operated by gasoline, which gives it the distance covering properties of a touring car, it is started as easily as turning on the electricity in the electrics. There is no vibration. Mr. Berens sent his car about all over the city, and his praise was certainly full.

Sales Reported.

Judging from the sales the Toledo and Cadillac are among the popular machines on the market. The Ford of the Popo Manufacturing Company, yesterday announced two more purchases. The machines deserve all the praise they are getting.

Going Home to Vote.

For the purpose of casting two votes for Senator Hanna, H. W. Cook and H. L. Owensby, who have the Washington business in Winton and Stevens-Durys, left last night for Ohio. They expect to return to the city Wednesday. They have no doubts concerning the election of Senator Hanna, but they want to increase his majority. In addition to voting they are to visit the factories and inspect the models of the machines for 1934. A large number of improvements are promised in the new machines.

Here From the North.

H. C. Cadwallader and party reached Washington yesterday in a touring car from Philadelphia. They are to return this afternoon.

Violating Speed Ordinances. There were two arrests during the week for violations of the speed ordinances. One of the men captured is a well-known autoist.

New Electric Machine. The first Baker to reach Washington came in two days ago. It was purchased by Ned Alexander.

PROPERTY HOLDER PROTESTS AGAINST A HACK STAND

Amanda J. Bay, of 1200 Eighteenth Street northwest, has written to the Commissioners protesting against the return of the hack stand to its old location at M and Eighteenth Streets, following the completion of a new apartment house. The writer states that the presence of the stand, with its odors and noise, decreased the value of her property and had caused her to lose several advantageous offers for the property.

$5,000,000 FOR ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31.—A consignment of $15,000,000 in currency and silver, sent by express from Washington to the St. Louis subtreasury, was safely delivered from the union station to the subtreasury vaults yesterday in express wagons. The total consignment to be sent is said to be in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

NOTED DESPERADOES PEACEABLE FARMERS

Cole Younger and Frank
James Living Quietly.

CHANGE IS NOW COMPLETE

Both Seek Retirement From Notoriety and Are Good, Peaceable Men.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Farmer, guerrilla, soldier of the Confederacy, bank robber, bandit, outlaw, pardoned convict, manager of a Wild West show, and finally a farmer again, is the career of Cole Younger, one of the most famous of Western desperadoes, who with Frank James, brother of Jesse, is going South-west, where they will end their lives as farmers.

Younger and James purchased a Wild West show at Kansas City, Mo., last February. The venture was backed by "Wally" Hoffman, a wealthy brewer of Chicago, who, it is said, advanced $75,000 for the purchase and the new material used in the reorganization. Early in May the show began a Western and Southwestern circuit, starting in Minnesota.

To Purchase Farm. Information that Younger and James seek retirement was brought to New York by a man greatly interested in Younger's case, who before the Minnesota State prison pardon board, and who saw the ex-bandit recently at Kansas City. Younger will purchase a farm in Lee Summit, Jackson county, Mo., near his old childhood home, and James will join at Kearney, which is now the home of his aged mother.

"Younger is a greatly changed man," said the man who had lately seen the ex-bandit. "From the desperate robber he is now quiet and extremely modest man. The transition is remarkable. Twenty-five years ago there was no deed too daring or dangerous for him to undertake, and for a generation the 'penny dreadful' romances have been attributing to him nearly every crime in the penal code."

Younger Quotes Bible. "James is also quiet, though nervous and uncommunicative. They seek seclusion rather than the notoriety of public comment, and both assured me that the happiest hope of their lives will be realized when they have found the peaceable retirement which the life of a farmer is supposed to give."

"One of the most interesting features in the study of Cole Younger by those who have known him in the old days and at present is the remarkable change in the man intellectually. His twenty-five years in prison was largely as a hospital nurse and librarian, and he has been a careful student of literature. His speech is embellished with quotations from the classics, and he reads the Bible twelve times during his long imprisonment."

Talks But Little. "Of his bandit career he seldom speaks, and then never in any but a regretful way. He uses neither tobacco nor liquor in any form. His reformation has been complete."

Cole Younger's record from 1865 to reach the city were operated about the streets yesterday by A. L. Kull, of the Willard Automobile Station, and F. S. Berens. The latter has three cars, counting his Ford. Mr. Kull has too many cars to count, and has added a Ford to them, which he is now demonstrating. The machine is of the bright cherry finish, of high power, but light weight, and runs as smoothly as the best of the electrics. Though operated by gasoline, which gives it the distance covering properties of a touring car, it is started as easily as turning on the electricity in the electrics. There is no vibration. Mr. Berens sent his car about all over the city, and his praise was certainly full.

CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW OPEN THIS AFTERNOON

Exhibition Will Also Be Open Each Week Night From 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

An enjoyable way to spend the afternoon today will be to visit the chrysanthemum show at the graperies in the grounds of the Department of Agriculture. The exhibition will be open from 1 to 5 p. m., for the special benefit of the on week days. Beginning tomorrow night the exhibition will be open from 7:30 to 9:30 each evening, except Sunday, and from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Several extra arc lights have been hung in order to heighten the effect of the night exhibit. These added conveniences are due to the energy of Dr. B. T. Galloway, chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry.

For those who love chrysanthemums there are numerous reasons for giving the exhibition, not one, but many visits. The development of the flowers already in bloom is interesting, but there also a great many just coming out each day, all of them offering to the enthusiast an abundance of material for study. Numerous new varieties are to be seen in the exhibition, all of them reflecting great praise upon the care and ability of their originators. Among those which are attracting special attention are Madame E. Nicollard, a very large in-curving, milky flower; Milliecent Richardson, a beautiful, large, purple-claret bloom; Madame Paoli Rodelli, creamy white; A. J. Balfour, white; Baron Ross, large yellow, and Arizona, large pink.

The prize flower, Mlle. Marie Liger, is not yet in full bloom. Among the older varieties making a strong showing are Honesty, very large white; O. P. Bassett, large white; William J. Bryant, very large white; W. Q. Greenham, large white; Golden Gate, yellow; Mrs. John K. Shaw, pink, and many others, including a number of seedlings of 1933.

CITIZENS WANT A HALL CLOSED AT MIDNIGHT

P. H. Mable and others living in the neighborhood of the True Reformers' Hall, at Twelfth and U Streets northwest, have petitioned the Commissioners to have the hall closed hereafter at midnight.

"For the past two weeks," says the petition, "our rest has been disturbed and the nights made hideous between 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning by yells and other noise made by persons attending entertainments in the hall."

PARCELS POST TREATY WITH BRITISH ISLANDS

Charge Raikes Confers With Mr. Shallenberger.

REDUCING PACKAGE LIMIT

Four Pounds Six Ounces Now the Rule
Instead of Eleven Pounds as at First.

Mr. Raikes, in charge of the British embassy, called upon Mr. Shallenberger, Second Assistant Postmaster General, yesterday to discuss the making of a parcels post treaty between the United States and the Windward Islands and other British possessions.

A number of treaties under consideration have been held up pending the outcome of the experiment with Germany by which the parcels post limit was fixed at eleven pounds. The expert was showed this country a heavy letter, as it received more packages than it sent and the postal system of the United States was not equipped for the handling of enormous quantities of heavy packages.

Germany was notified that after July 1 the limit was reduced to four pounds, six ounces, where it now stands. This limit will be adhered to in the greater number of treaties yet to be made, except in some instances where the United States sends more packages than it gets.

One of the British colonies with which a parcels post treaty will be arranged is Hongkong and Mr. Raikes and Mr. Shallenberger discussed thoroughly in their conference. The British representative agreed to the American propositions and it is thought the treaty will be concluded shortly.

Special Examiners Arrive From Alaska. Have Been Probing the Charges Against United States Officials.

Stanley W. Finch and Alvin M. McNish, the special examiners for the Department of Justice who have been in Alaska for several months probing into the charges against United States officials there, have reached Washington. The examiners were at the Department of Justice yesterday. They have not yet made their report, and will be delayed for a week or more, because Mr. Finch has been called to Atlanta to appear as a witness in court there. As soon as he returns it is expected the report will be submitted to the department.

Interest in the report centers on what the examiners will have to say concerning the official conduct of the United States Attorney Grigsby, of the Nome district. Some weeks ago, a preliminary report reached the Department of Justice in which United States Marshal Richards, of the Nome district, was exonerated. Nothing was said as to Grigsby, and it is not known whether he will be found guilty or innocent. Grigsby was a colonel of one of the Rough Rider organizations in the Spanish-American war.

ONE-PRICE PIANO HOUSE.

OUR LIFE'S WORK.

We've been selling Pianos since 1857; thousands have relied upon our advice and judgment in the selection of an instrument. We study our business as a profession. In this as in every other vocation, to be successful one must be up to date in methods and resources. Only the very best and most carefully selected goods are sold to our customers.

Public opinion says that the

STEINWAY

Piano is the best; we think so, too, from our intimate knowledge of the subject. We sell the Steinway and other leading makes for cash or on time payments, if desired.

New Steinway Uprights, $500. New Grands, $800.

Six Immense Floors

Devoted to the display of the most magnificent stock of Pianos ever shown in Washington. We have secured the third and fourth floors in the adjoining building, where we are now showing a fine line of Slightly Used Pianos. Look over this list of "specials" for Monday:

7-octave "Steinway" Parlor Grand, fine order, fully warranted, $300

7-1-3-octave "Huntington," mahogany, cost $350, used 4 months, $280
And a large number of others ranging from $200 to $500.

New Pianos, $195.

You may ask, is such a Piano worth buying? We answer, that it is. This is not an instance where we offer "a four-hundred-dollar Piano for $195." Such statements should appeal to you as being untrue. This new Piano which we advertise at $195 is equal to any instrument sold elsewhere for $250. We're going to sell them right along at $195 cash, or $210 on time; terms, $10 cash and $5 per month. Come in and look at them. It's worth your while.

The "Cecilian,"

The Perfect Piano Player. There are thirty or more "players" on the market, each one claiming to be "the best." We know the standard players well, and therefore, after careful comparison, have no hesitation in declaring the "Cecilian" better than any player now on the market.

I. The Cecilian has an interchangeable tracker board, which places the Pianola as well as the Cecilian music catalogue at your disposal. This gives you a repertoire of about 17,000 rolls.

II. The Cecilian pumps easier than any other player.

III. The "Cecilian" time-lever acts as instantaneously as thought, and with a little practice you can produce effects at which musicians marvel.

IV. Expression or interpretation is limited only by the intelligence of the operator.

V. The "CECILIAN" has a "SOLO STOP," by use of which you accentuate the melody or "air" in the composition you are playing, the accompaniment can be held soft or loud.

VI. There's so much to tell you about the "Cecilian"—so many points of superiority over other players to be shown—that this limited space forbids us to enter into further description. We extend you a cordial invitation to visit our Cecilian Parlors—it's a pleasure to play for you.
